Ward Delimitation:
MCC receives 187 objections

Mysuru, June 26 (RK&BCT)- The manner in which delimitation of 65 wards in Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has been carried out and the way reservation of wards for different categories has been announced has not gone down well among the elected representatives especially from the JD(S) and the BJP who have cried conspiracy by the previous Congress government headed by Chief Minister Siddharamaiah.

They have alleged that wards have been divided to suit the interests of Congress party and as such, they have called for a revision of 'unscientific and illogical' delimitation process and the reservation categories before the MCC election that is due in September this year.

The MCC Election Branch has received 187 objections to the delimitation and reservation till yesterday, the last date to file objections. Most of the objections are from the elected representatives from BJP and JD(S) and the public.

However, according to officials, the delimitation process cannot be changed or altered as it was completed last year. Only the reservation metrics can be changed, provided the government agrees to it. Elections for the 116 local bodies, including the MCC and a couple of other City Corporations are slated for September and the Election Commission is likely to announce poll schedule in August. The MCC, at present is being governed by JD(S)-BJP combine and its term will end on Sept. 5.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, officials from the MCC Election Branch said that the District Administration had called for objections only to the reservation metrics and not for delimitation exercise (as it is already completed) on June 19. On June 22, the MCC received 43 objections, 42 on June 23 and 102 objections were filed on June 25.

"The objections have been sent to Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar who will forward the same to the State Government. After receiving approval from the State if any changes are to be made in the reservation, one more notification will be issued," officials said. They said that the delimitation will stay and no changes will be made.

Meanwhile, former Minister and Krishnaraja MLA S.A. Ramdas yesterday said that he would file an objection to the draft notifications of the reservations and the delimitation of wards.

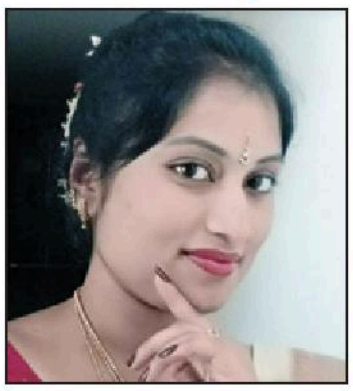
Mystery shrouds beautician's death
Mother alleges murder by daughter's friend

Mysuru, June 26 (RK&BCT)- A beautician, who separated from her husband and was living with her friend, committed suicide in city yesterday. However, her mother has alleged that her daughter has been murdered and has pointed the accusing finger at her daughter's friend, who harassed her for money.

The body of 25-year-old Ramya, who was working at a hotel in Nazarbad as a beautician, was found hanging at her house in Damodar Layout at Alanahalli last night. Ramya, originally from Channarayapatna in Hassan district, had married Anand, a resident of Shanthikoppalu in Srirangapatna two years ago and the couple had a son.

Differences cropped up between them and they lived separately. In her compliant, Ramya's mother Lakshmamma alleged that a certain Sunil befriended her at the hotel where Ramya was working. They later became close and Sunil asked her to shift to Alanahalli from Srirangapatna and stay at the house of one Shekhar at Damodar Layout.



Deceased Ramya

Lakshmamma of Channarayapatna said that her daughter was staying at Alanahalli and Sunil used to visit her frequently and also stay in the house. "Sunil used to pay the house rent and used to tell my daughter that she could return the money from the salary she received. Later, Sunil claimed that he was a financier and needed a lot of money for his transactions. He used to pester my daughter for money and take away all her salary," Lakshmamma stated in her complaint.

Ramya's mother has alleged that Sunil had taken a chit fund in her daughter's name at Prerana Finance and had obtained a loan of Rs. 8 lakh. "He took away my daughter's gold ornaments weighing 200 grams worth about Rs. 5,70,000. He used to harass her for money frequently and my daughter used to narrate her ordeal every day," Lakshmamma said.

She alleged that Sunil tortured Ramya and even used to visit the hotel where she was working and pester for money. "Sunil even had threatened that he would kill Ramya if his demands of money were not met. On Monday (June 25), my daughter telephoned me and said that Sunil had told her that he would come to her house in the evening and had asked her to keep the money ready," Lakshmamma has stated in her complaint.

She alleged that Sunil had murdered Ramya and had asked someone to call her (Lakshmamma) at around 3.30 pm yesterday to inform about the death. Alanahalli Police have registered a case of murder and are investigating.

Caring for country's cows

Even the humble cow got entangled for sometime recently in the web of inter-political-party wrangling with a not-entirely-hidden agenda of mutually belittling themselves before the land's masses. The main issue that got clouded in the process, namely the two clearly contrasting practices of one section in the population worshipping the domesticated species and the other section including the same as a component of the regular diet generated more heat than light during debates both in the country's Legislative bodies, including the Parliament and Legislative Assemblies of some States, notably Uttar Pradesh. The centuries-old outlook towards the cow as the giver of gifts as desired (Kamadhenu) on the part of the masses who worship the animal in reverence has its origins in the land's epics, also of several centuries vintage. For the section that consider the meat of the species as their staple, drumming about the spiritual outlook has only drawn flak, given the unabated incidents of violating the law banning cow slaughter, except under some conditions.

While cow is perceived as only a source of milk by most people, some spiritually oriented establishments (ashrams) are rearing cows of indigenous breeds as part of their mission to arrest the attrition in their count across the country by producing many products other than milk, highlighting their health benefits, though on a limited scale. Given the current scenario of exotic breeds of cow being favoured, the effort of sustaining indigenous breeds seems like a lost cause.

The question of choosing between indigenous breeds and exotic breeds of cow boils down to the issue of cost of rearing cows and the return that accrues from the enterprise as it were. The rising number of rustic families as well as members of the land's milk-producing unions acquiring cows of exotic breed is testimony to the high cost-benefit ratio prompted by low returns from rearing indigenous breeds. Also, the now-low-key practice of worshipping cows has been hit hard in urban spaces, thanks to prohibiting cattle rearing in residential areas, as in Mysuru. Whether the few cows to be still found in small cities belong to indigenous breed or exotic, the feature of allowing them to stray on the roads and rummage the garbage bins for assuaging hunger mocks at the Kamadhenu status accorded to the species.

Animal husbandry, a time-honoured part of India's cultural tradition, zealously guarded by the people of lakhs of villages in the country has got morphed into anything but cultural. The portfolio of people at large has got overwhelmed by commercial outlook. But, cow and its other cohorts (sheep, goat, pig, rabbit...) don't seem to figure prominently in the realm of administration. In this context, the demand by a Cabinet Minister of Uttar Pradesh government for a separate Ministry for the care of cows rekindles hope for prolonging the species and its image of Kamadhenu.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

From living off money collected by her four-year-old daughter to spending at least 50 per cent more on eating out and shopping, housewife Ruth Timmy Verghese says she's had a sharp lifestyle turnaround in the last few months. The 32-year-old said she had to break into her daughter's piggy bank to meet household expenses when India suddenly pulled most high-denomination currency notes out of circulation in November two years ago. Like Verghese, many other middle income Indians are splashing cash on beauty salons, shopping, movies and eating out as the economy normalises after disruptions from two big events — demonetisation and the introduction of a new Goods and Services Tax (GST) last year. This surge in expenditure is pushing core inflation higher and could keep overall consumer price inflation well above the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI's) 4.7 per cent target by March 2019. — Suvashree Choudhury in Business Standard.

Man dies after three fans blow air at him

Tambon Nai Muang: A 44-year-old man reportedly died of hypothermia after going to bed on a cold floor with three electric fans blowing air at him all through the night.

Sobthawee Boonkua, from Tambon Nai Muang, in Thailand's Chaiyaphum province, had gone to look after his 86-year-old mother and decided to spend the night. Fearing that he wouldn't be able to get a good night's sleep due to the heat, the man decided to sleep on the floor and plug in no less than three electric fans to keep cool.

Sobthawee's body was found by a relative who called an ambulance and the Police. Muang Chaiyaphum Police arrived at the scene along with a coroner and after examining the body and interrogating family members, the medical examiner concluded that the man had died of hypothermia, because his body couldn't adjust to the sudden change in temperature and had gone into shock.

High-tech mirror that works when you smile

Turkey: A new high tech mirror, designed specifically for cancer patients, will only become reflective when a user smiles into it. Unlike a regular mirror, however, the price is currently standing at a staggering $2000-$3000 (USD). It can hang on a wall or sit on a table, much like a conventional mirror.

After witnessing a close family member struggle through cancer treatments, Turkish industrial designer Berk Ilhan decided to focus his work primarily on products that would cultivate joy and benefit cancer patients directly.

He spent two years designing and developing the mirror, the idea behind it being that smiling, even when forced, can genuinely make us feel better, according to research known as the facial feedback hypothesis.

Laughter is linked to improved immune system function, and some researchers claim it can even increase our lifespans.

Provide more buses on this route

A photograph taken at Petrol Bunk bus stop recently.

Sir,

This is to bring to the attention of the authorities concerned that general public have to wait for a minimum 20-30 minutes to get a bus to Ramaswamy Circle from Petrol Bunk Bus Stop near Railway Station which is causing lot of difficulties to the people working in this area. There is no direct bus to Ramaswamy Circle except Bus No. 303 coming from KRS.

People residing in other areas break their journey at Petrol Bunk and catch another bus to Ramaswamy Circle, Lakshmipuram etc. Also lot of people coming by train and depending on this bus stop go to RTO Office and many other Private Offices.

If the KSRTC authorities divert some buses through Ramaswamy Circle it will help people who are anxiously waiting for bus in the morning to reach their offices on time. Bus No. 307 going to Srirangapatna passes through Ramaswamy Circle in the morning but while returning it goes via Railway Station, K.R. Hospital to CBS. There is only one bus No. 303 going through Ramaswamy Circle to CBS.

Rohini Sindhuri reinstated as Hassan DC

Bengaluru/ Hassan, June 26- Karnataka-cadre IAS officer Rohini Sindhuri Dasari, who was transferred as Hassan Deputy Commissioner by the Siddharamaiah-led government, has been reinstated to her previous position by the High Court.

Rohini Sindhuri took charge as the DC of Hassan at 5 pm yesterday. After her transfer on Jan.22, the government had first appointed D. Randeep as the DC and later he was replaced with P.C. Jaffer on April 25.

The HC yesterday disposed of her petition after Additional Advocate General A.S. Ponnanna submitted in the Court that the Kumaraswamy-led Government passed a notification dated June 25 stating her appointment as the Hassan DC yet again.

She has been posted as the Commissioner of Employment and Training in Bengaluru since April, after the Central Administrative Tribunal (CAT) had dismissed her petition on the same issue. Rohini had challenged her transfer order at the HC and CAT, citing it as premature and politically motivated. She was posted as Hassan DC in July 2017 and transferred in April 2018. Rohini was transferred after she had a run-in with the local Congress leadership, including with the then District in-Charge Minister A. Manju.

Incidentally, she, as the District Election Officer, had locked down the office of Manju for running his office at the Public Works Department headquarters after the Model Code of Conduct was put into effect.

A few days later, she had alleged that the Minister was bribing voters for granting Bagair Hukum land, based on a report by the Returning Officer just ahead of the elections. Following this, she was the target of a complaint by the Minister, which was later soon found baseless by the Election Commission.

However, the tension between her and the ruling Congress started much earlier.

Rohini's first run-in with the Congress leadership was in January this year, when she was overseeing preparations for the Mahamastakabhisheka at Shravanabelagola. The party accused her of not toeing the line of the district Congress leadership.

She was soon transferred and someone else was appointed to oversee the preparations. The other reason touted to be the cause of her transfer was her apparent failure to maintain protocol and receive the then CM Siddharamaiah when he visited the district. She had contested her transfer, which was ordered just a little more than six months of her posting, at the HC and later at the CAT then too. The transfer order was withdrawn in March after the Election Commission had stalled it.

Yoga Session for Traffic Cops

Mysuru, June 26- Traffic Police personnel of Devaraja Police Station flexed their joints at a Yoga Session organised exclusively for them on Monday morning. The session was jointly organised by Belaku Foundation in association with Samuthana Foundation. The session saw over 60 personnel including Home Guards performing 22 yogasanas and meditation, in front of Devaraja Police Station.

As Traffic Cops spend majority of their life on polluted roads and under stressful conditions, the Yogasanas were a real breather for them, refreshing their mind and body.

Belaku Foundation Founder K.M. Nishanth said, "Traffic Police personnel are exposed to dust and toxins. So asanas that are useful for their lungs were chosen and coupled with a meditation session. The initiative has helped them to ease the stress that they have to encounter in their daily work." He further said that there was a proposal to conduct a larger session together for all Police personnel in the city.

K.P. Pradyumna of Samuthana Foundation said that Devaraja Traffic Police have taken the lead in hosting yoga sessions for Police personnel.

Pointing out that the asanas were of great help for stress relief, he said that there were plans to conduct a larger session involving all Police personnel.

The session was of one-and-a-half hour duration. Devaraja Traffic Inspector M. Chandrashekar, Patanjali Yoga Kendra's Shashidhar and others were present.

Football is for all: Except India

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Football overtakes cricket in corruption because football money is bigger than cricket money. BCCI's net worth is under $ 300 million. Real Madrid's is around $ 3500 million. Even Manchester United, though no match to the Continental or South American giants, has a net worth of $ 2800 million. Individual earnings reflect the same chasm. Virat Kohli is ranked 89th in 2017, with a total pay of $ 22 million. Messi's earnings in this season were $ 146 million and Ronaldo's $ 108 million.

Of the many realities refreshed by the ongoing football frenzy, two are revelatory for India. First: Kicking a ball around is an instinctive urge of all humans which explains both the universality and the irresistibility of football. India fell off the grid because of the willingness with which it surrendered its soul to the concocted colonial game of cricket.

Second which follows from the first: In a world festival where even countries like Saudi Arabia and Tunisia are stars, India is nowhere to be seen. These fundamentals will not change in the foreseeable future, India being what it has become.

The extent of "filthy lucre" that cricket makes is one reason for the game's anomalous growth in India. The BCCI is known as the richest cricket club in the world. Naturally, it attracts politicians and business tycoons as administrators, making a bad situation worse. It also makes the unnatural natural. An honest BJP leader cannot stand the sight of a 24-carat Congressman and both of them will see an NCP leader as a betrayer. Yet, Arun Jaitley and Rajeev Shukla and Sharad Pawar are bonded buddies in cricket.

The combination of political weight and money power has helped the BCCI stay above normal democratic scrutinies. It goes its way despite the Supreme Court's ruling that it's not a private body, the Law Commission's proposal that it be brought under the Right To Information Act and the Lodha Committee's recommendations for sweeping reforms. The man who lifted cricket corruption to the level of genius, Lalit Modi, remains beyond the reach of law, thanks to the abetment of law-makers.

Football overtakes cricket in corruption because football money is bigger than cricket money. BCCI's net worth is under $ 300 million. Real Madrid's is around $ 3500 million. Even Manchester United, though no match to the Continental or South American giants, has a net worth of $ 2800 million. Individual earnings reflect the same chasm. Virat Kohli, the only Indian in the Forbes list of highest paid athletes, ranked 89th in 2017, with a total pay of $ 22 million (of which 19 million is from endorsements, not cricket). Messi's earnings in this season were $ 146 million and Ronaldo's $ 108 million.

That both Messi and Ronaldo got involved in tax evasion cases is a minor detail. The big story is corruption under the almighty governing body of football, FIFA. Sepp Blatter, long-time President, was so powerful that he was considered unshakable — until 2015 when a $ 1.7 million bribery scandal did him in. The crowning piece was awarding the 2022 World Cup to Qatar, obviously for major kickbacks. America's FBI also got involved in investigations, finding that well above $ 150 million was paid in bribes for marketing rights. Swiss Police arrested seven FIFA officials. What was revealed was a tale of "rampant, systemic and deep-rooted corruption, racketeering and conspiracy."

Yet, football marches triumphantly on. Because football is human nature. Football is owned by people whoever they are and wherever they are — by Icelanders and Algerians, by Africans and Scandinavians, by the Japanese and the Mexicans. If cricket produces heroes like Tendulkar, football produces Gods like Pele. And Pele said it all when he said, "Brazil eats, sleeps and drinks football. It lives football." To all mankind, football is heart-ball.

Even its sordid moments have a touch of class. Who can forget the drama of the 2006 World Cup final when the incomparable Zinedine Zidane floored Italy's Marco Materazzi with a mighty head-butt. It was Zidane's last-ever match as a player. Gossip that the Italian had insulted the Frenchman's sister has been rejected by the Italian. But he did admit later that he had used "stupid words" to rile Zidane. The unforgettable incident ended Zidane's career on a sour note, but it did not affect his profile as a football great. (Marco Materazzi later had a stint in Chennai as coach for Chennayins).

This year's World Cup is remarkable for the preparations completed by Russia on time — 12 stadiums, some of them brand new and considered architectural masterpieces. Remember the 2010 Commonwealth Games when we could not get even toilets completed? Small wonder that Bhaichung Bhutia and I.M.Vijayan believe India won't play in the World Cup in the foreseeable future. How can it when football is in the hands of a politician like Praful Patel, remembered for crippling Air-India when that airline was in his hands? We should be grateful that we can at least watch other countries on the screen.

Jaganmohan Palace Art Gallery to go hi-tech

Conservation Lab to be set up, Audio Guides for Visitors

By N. Niranjan Nikam

The nearly 157-year-old Jaganmohan Palace, housing one of the finest art galleries in the world, is going hi-tech, as it will soon have Audio Guides to take the visitors through the various collections housed in the Gallery. It will also have its own Conservation Laboratory in the premises.

"I have a very ambitious plan of setting up a Conservation Lab inside the Jaganmohan Palace premises itself. I am in touch with INTACH (Indian National Trust for Art Culture and Heritage) to repair and maintain the Art Gallery. It is to preserve the built heritage (building part) and material heritage (objects in the gallery) that I decided to approach the non-profit organisation," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, speaking to Star of Mysore.

The Laboratory has to be housed in the premises itself, as the Art Gallery requires constant monitoring and maintenance. The INTACH has the technical know-how to preserve the objects. "We cannot create another Jaganmohan Palace or the objects in it that my predecessors left behind. The only thing we can do is to preserve them and I will take whatever I have to do to preserve it," she said.

Entirely Private Art Gallery

The Jaganmohan Palace Art Gallery is entirely a private one and the collections inside it are also private. There is a misconception that it belongs to the government and this misconception should at least go now. It will always remain a private collection and if I have to restore it then let me do it without accepting any grant, she said.

"It is not the ego but the pride which made me take this decision. From a helpless situation that I was in after the passing away of my husband in 2013, today I am happy that I took the decision not take grant from anyone and God has been extremely kind to me," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

Asked if there were any offer of grants, she said, "The Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery Trust does not have any funds. It is all from my private funds that I am trying to maintain it. A few people got together and offered me Rs.2 crore to restore the Art Gallery. I pondered and then decided I will do it myself."

Restoration work to be completed in two months

Pramoda Devi

It is more than a year since the restoration work of Jaganmohan Palace Art Gallery began. The work is still going on and is likely to be completed before the commencement of Dasara this year.

"It is a more than 150-year-old building and the work is going on in stages. To cast the 35-foot high ceiling was not easy. The roof had to be cast very carefully as it was fully damaged. If one side was being repaired the other would crumble. The pillars were damaged. We had put 35 feet high scaffolding which was not an easy task. Hence, because of the height we could not accelerate the work," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

The work on the Ganesha Hall at the back is also going on. Here the problems were equally challenging. The foundation was sinking and the top portion had to be addressed at the same time. In the main hall, the glasses needed to be fixed and Mangalore tiles had to be replaced. The painting work is also going on now and half-white and white colour is being used. New electrical wiring has to be done and the chandeliers are being cleaned. The floor work will also take time, she explained.

"Even though the work started briskly and it should have been completed last year itself, I realised that it cannot be hurried as we are at the mercy of the labour force. They do the work at their leisure," she said.

Asked when the work will be fully completed, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar said that this time, they planned to open it to the public fully by the time Dasara starts in October. However, the Art Gallery continues to be open for viewing alongside the renovation.

Audio Guides

Audio Guides will be introduced shortly at Jaganmohan Palace Art Gallery. It will be in six to eight languages including English, French, German, Hindi, Kannada, Tamil, Telugu and Malayalam.

"I am trying to restrict the physical guides as it is leading to security concerns. Hence, Audio Guides are being introduced. All one has to do is hire the Audio Guides by paying just Rs. 35 (for which I have to pay tax) and stand in front of the objects and press the button. It will instantly give all the details of the object. We are going to introduce it on a pilot basis in another two weeks to sort out teething troubles and once the ongoing renovation of the Gallery is complete, we'll introduce it fully," she said.

Petty shops

There are nearly 30 petty shops selling handicrafts and other items in Jaganmohan Palace premises since the last 30 years or more. "The shops were let out in the mid-80s to augment the income for the Art Gallery. However, times have changed and our main concern is security of objects in the Gallery. Hence, we have asked the shop owners to vacate the place," said Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery Trust Secretary M. Lakshminarayan.

"We need the place to put up our Conservation Laboratory. Since the last one year I did not even collect the rents as I wanted the shop-keepers to leave the place without any animosity. But we are facing problems," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

According to Lakshminarayan, there were shops rented out in the Residential Museum inside the Mysore Palace premises where the private collections are housed. However, the shop-keepers there vacated the place without any hassles as security concerns were raised.

Since the plans are afoot to set up the Conservation Laboratory inside the Jaganmohan Palace premises, the shops that are to the left side of the entrance have to be demolished as that is the place where the Lab is going to come up, said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar and added that parking space is also required in future for expansion plans of the Gallery. Besides, space is required to put up separate toilets for both men and women, she said.

As there are a few shops inside the Art Gallery, that space is required for storage of objects so that while conservation work is taken up, it will be easy to carry the objects from the store to the laboratory, she added.

On whether there were plans to set up their own shops, she said, "We will probably have one or two outlets selling souvenirs like in any other Museum or Art Gallery in the world, where genuine things will be sold. We are already selling post cards related to the Gallery which are selling quite well."

Wadiyar Heritage Centre at Chamundi Vihar Mansion

Mysuru, June 26 (NNN)- Even as the nearly 157-year-old Jaganmohan Palace is going hi-tech, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, who has set up the H H Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation, is keen on taking up many other works related to art and culture.

As a first step, apart from Conservation Laboratory, she is planning to establish the Wadiyar Heritage Centre at Chamundi Vihar Mansion on Bannur Road, adjacent to Chamundi Vihar Stadium. There is a stately old building here which has been lying unused for years. Here is where the mother of the last ruler of Mysuru, Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, Kempacheluvarajammani lived. After her passing away, her daughter Sujaya Devi also lived here.

"I am planning to set up the Wadiyar Heritage Centre in these serene surroundings. I am already in touch with a group of architects who are experts in restoration work. The main reason is to see that we have a pool of skilled people to work on restoring the objects in our museums and also to see that they are preserved in pristine condition. Here young people will be trained by the expert architects," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar speaking to Star of Mysore.

"For instance, the restoration work on the staircase of Bangalore Palace is being taken up scientifically by these experts. They look critically at everything and then give their opinion and now the same expertise is being brought to the Jaganmohan Palace Art Gallery," she said.

SDNR Wadiyar Foundation

The H H Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation was launched in Bengaluru in February of this year. The Foundation will focus on health, heritage, art and culture and policy studies.

Some of the works that are planned include the restoration of the Mysore Palace where the Wadiyar family resides, to its original state that was built by Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

"We are very keen on preserving art and culture through the Foundation. In fact many people do not know that my late husband and I would go and watch Master Hirannaiah's plays in Jaganmohan Palace right from 1976, and we have the recorded tapes of those plays," she said.

"In short I have very many ambitious plans and I am living my husband's dream today in trying to fulfil them," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar.

A grand wedding reception was held at the Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel in city last evening.

"The Wards were not delimited from the last 17 years. Though the population has increased, the authorities have not increased the number of Wards. Without finalising the delimitation of the Wards, the Govt. has issued the reservation draft notification, which is unscientific," MLA Ramdas said.

He cited the reservation of both Wards in Dalit-dominated Ashokapuram to women from general category and Brahmin and Vokkaliga-dominated areas of Jayanagar to Dalits while questioning the rationale behind the reservation.

"Krishnaraja Assembly constituency I represent has been targeted as the number of Wards in the constituency had been brought down from 21 to 19. Of the 19 Wards, as many as 13 had been reserved for women, denying upcoming men from different castes an opportunity to contest in the elections," he said.

The Govt. has reserved 13 Wards under KR for women but as per the norms, there is a provision to reserve only nine Wards for women. "I have no objection for 50% reservation for women but, the reservation should be followed as per norms," he said.

Terming the reservation as totally unscientific, former Mayor B.L. Bhyrappa has said that the reservation prevents most of the seasoned politicians from contesting elections. Bhyrappa, a sitting Corporator from Ward 12, blamed lack of sense on the part of officials who prepared the draft on the basis of population census of 2007, ignoring the latest census.

"Though the city has grown by leaps and bounds with the development of 40 new residential Layouts, they are not brought under the ambit of MCC," he said and added that he has written to the Election Commission and the State Government in this regard.

VC appointments after Budget: GTD

G.T. Devegowda

Mysuru, June 26- The appointment of Vice-Chancellors to three Universities including University of Mysore (UoM) in the State will be done after discussing with CM H.D. Kumaraswamy after the Budget session, said Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD). Addressing the Media persons here yesterday, he said that Kumaraswamy had called for a meeting today (June 27) regarding the priorities for the Department before the Budget and the same will be placed before him. A decision will also be taken regarding 400 posts of Principals lying vacant in different Colleges in the State, he added.

"University teachers have urged for implementation of 7th Pay Commission. Officials have been directed to gather information from the States of Bihar, West Bengal and Andhra Pradesh regarding this issue. As the laptops are a necessity for the students, the confusions created in the distribution will be resolved," he said.

Recognition for KSOU: The State Government is confident of getting the recognition back to the Karnataka State Open University (KSOU). "I will personally meet the UGC Chairman and hold discussions with him and see that KSOU students will not be put to anymore hardships. I will not allow the land belonging to KSOU to be given away to anybody," GTD assured.

Periyapatna, June 26 (Ramesh&KS)- Unhygienic toilets and late comers greeted MLA K. Mahadev during his surprise visit to Periyapatna General Hospital this morning.

During his visit, the MLA found that many doctors were coming late to work and asked the hospital's Administrative Officer to issue notice to late comers and asked him to take legal action if they still continue to come late.

Aspas scores a VAR-assisted equaliser as Spain scrambled a draw with Morocco

Kaliningrad, June 26- Iago Aspas scored a VAR-assisted equaliser in injury time as Spain scrambled a 2-2 draw with Morocco on Monday in a dramatic finale to their Group B campaign.

Aspas's winner, initially disallowed but awarded after intervention from the Video Assistant Referee, saw Spain stumbled into the last 16 as group winners.

The Spaniards will now face World Cup hosts Russia in the second round after Portugal were held to a 1-1 draw by Iran in the night's other game.

Portugal survive Iran scare

Cristiano Ronaldo missed a penalty before Portugal conceded an injury-time spot-kick in a 1-1 draw with Iran at the World Cup on Monday as the European champions set up a last-16 clash with Uruguay.

Ricardo Quaresma curled in a trademark trivela goal on the stroke of half-time at the Mordovia Arena, but Karim Ansarifard's late penalty dropped Portugal to second in Group B behind neighbours Spain.

Ronaldo won a second-half spot-kick after a video review but saw his effort saved, with the Real Madrid star unable to add to his four-goal tally at the tournament.

Portugal will face Uruguay in Sochi on July 30 for a place in the quarter-finals after ending Iran's hopes of reaching the knockout phase for the first time.

Uruguay thrash Russia

Uruguay burnished their World Cup credentials with a 3-0 victory over 10-man Russia on Monday, finishing top of Group A with a perfect record while dampening the hopes of the tournament hosts, who had to settle for second.

Luis Suarez grabbed his second goal of the tournament to open Uruguay's account with a free kick after 10 minutes and they doubled the lead with an own goal from Russia's Denis Cheryshev soon after.

That silenced a vociferous home crowd who had been in party mode after Russia's opening two victories and were not expecting their final group contest to be effectively ended in the 36th minute when Igor Smolnikov was sent off for a second booking.

Edinson Cavani bundled home a third goal for Uruguay at the death to wrap up their third straight victory, ensuring they finished above the Russians, who will now have to face the winners of Group B in the last 16.

Saudis stun Egypt

Essam El Hadary, the oldest player ever to appear at a World Cup, marked his record achievement with one outstanding penalty save for Egypt but was powerless to stop a second in a 2-1 defeat by Saudi Arabia on Monday.

The 45-year-old goalkeeper flew to his right to make a spectacular stop in the 39th minute from Fahad Al-Muwallad's spot-kick, awarded for handball, at the Volgograd Arena.

But Saudi Arabia scored deep into stoppage time in both halves, with Salem Al-Dawsari's last-gasp winner securing their first World Cup victory since a run to the last 16 in 1994.a

Indian Shuttlers eye good outing at Malaysia Open

Kuala Lumpur, June 26- Rejuvenated after a month-long break, India's top shuttlers, including P.V. Sindhu and Kidambi Srikanth, will resume their quest for glory when the south-east Asia leg of BWF world tour begins with the $700,000 Malaysian Open here on Tuesday.

Srikanth and Sindhu had skipped the Thomas and Uber Cup Finals in May to regain full fitness ahead of the hectic schedule which includes back-to-back tournaments such as $1,250,000 Indonesia Open, $350,000 Thailand Open and $355,000 Singapore Open, followed by the Asian Games.

Srikanth and Sindhu have been in good form as they returned with silver medals from the Gold Coast Commonwealth Games, but the fortnight-long multisport event also took a toll on their body and they worked hard on their fitness.

After bagging four titles last season, fourth seed Srikanth will look to lay claim to his first crown of the season when he begins his campaign against former world number 2 Jan O Jorgensen of Denmark, who is on a comeback trail after recovering from a recurring heel injury.

Mysuru, June 26- Continuing his padayatra for the fourth day today, KR MLA S.A. Ramdas visited areas around Jain Bhavan under MCC Ward No. 2 and Agrahara this morning and heard grievances of the public.

Later speaking to press persons near Renukacharya Temple in Agrahara, Ramdas said that he was disappointed to see that the houses being built for the beneficiaries of the Prime Minister's "Housing for all" scheme is yet to be completed even after eight months.

Alleging poor quality of construction, he said that he has asked the officials to check the quality and he will hold a meeting with the MCC and Slum Board officials in this regard later this afternoon.

Pointing out that BPL card holders were given time for registering under "Housing for all" scheme till June 15, Ramdas assured that all the registered beneficiaries will get houses.

Taking exception to unfinished development works along Charamaja Double Road, he said that improper drainage works had been causing a lot of inconvenience to the residents and he would take up the issue with concerned officials.

Referring to Mysuru slipping to eighth position in the Swachh Survekshan 2018, Ramdas said that he would strive hard apolitically for ensuring that Mysuru regains its top position next year.

MCC Zone-1 AC Sunil Babu, Corporator Shivakumar, BJP Leader Jogi Manju, MCC EE Javed and others were present.

MCC Ward No. 14

As Ramdas carried out padayatra in the area, residents came up with a slew of complaints and grievances on lack of civic amenities in the area. He directed the officials to address the grievances at the earliest. Some residents complained of erratic drinking water supply, when the MLA set a one-week deadline for the officials to rectify the problem.

Moving further in the area, Ramdas instructed the officials to construct platforms at the parks in Madhuvana Layout and Aravindnagar in order to enable the joggers to perform yoga. He later visited Surya Layout and surrounding areas and inspected the underground drainage system there when he asked the officials to clear all encroachments and thus prevent rain water gushing into homes whenever it rains heavily.

Mysuru, June 26 (YDS&BCT)- Hundreds of Pourakarmikas, who sweep our streets and lift garbage from our homes, came in for immense praise yesterday where speakers complimented them for their selfless service that has made Mysuru grab the Numero Uno position in Swachh Bharat Rankings in the Medium Cities category.

Addressing a press conference at the Old Council Hall of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) yesterday, Mayor B. Bhagyavathi, who received the award from Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Indore on Sunday, said that it is a matter of pride that the city has bagged the top position though it slipped to the eighth position in the Cleanest City category (above 10 lakh population). She attributed the success to the Pourakarmikas.

She said that she is saddened as the city's position slipped. But, she expressed happiness as the city has emerged as the cleanest city among the cities with a population of three lakh to one million, in Swachh Survekshan-2018.

MCC Commissioner K.H. Jagadeesha said that Pourakarmikas will be felicitated as they play an important role in maintaining the beauty of the city. He said that the city has not lagged behind in maintaining either its cleanliness or beauty. But the city slipped to the eighth position in the third 'Swachh Survekshan-2018', covering 4,203 cities, because of language problem between the surveyors and the people.

The Commissioner clarified that Mysuru has not lagged behind in any way when it came to maintaining cleanliness. Special emphasis was laid on Ward-level cleanliness and MCC had initiated door-to-door campaigns, asking residents to be responsible while discarding waste.

"Brand Ambassadors Javagal Srinath, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, Yoga Champ Kushi, Swami Muktidanandaji of Sri Ramakrishna Ashrama and former MLC D. Madegowda had extended their full support to the MCC's initiatives," he added.

According to MCC Health Officer Dr. D.G. Nagaraju, the surveyors communicated with the people in Hindi and the people did not understand the language. But the authorities took the information in Kannada as the MCC officials requested them.

The objective of the survey is to encourage large scale citizen participation and create awareness amongst all sections of society about the importance of working together towards making towns and cities a better place to live in. "We are happy that this time, residents of Mysuru had actively participated in the survey and gave their valuable inputs," Dr. Nagaraju said.

Dy. Mayor Indira Mahesh, Corporators Ashwini, Snake Shyam, Sameena Jabeen, V. Shailendra, M.V. Ramprasad, Shoukath Pasha, ex-Mayor B.L. Bhyrappa and Health Officer Dr. Ramachandra were present.

Overstay of foreign students: College Principal booked

Mysuru, June 26- City Police have booked the Principal of a private college for allegedly helping 30 foreigners stay in India by giving them fake study certificates. Principal of Srikantha Women's Degree College in Krishnaraja Mohalla, was booked for cheating by the Krishnaraja Police.

According to the Police, the Principal issued certificates to several foreigners, claiming they're pursuing English language diploma course.

Police grew suspicious after a Yemeni girl produced another certificate, claiming she has continued diploma education in the same college. She had earlier given a similar certificate to City Special Branch Police and got her stay extended by a year.

An officer said that they wrote to University of Mysore, asking whether the college has permission to offer diploma course. "Varsity authorities told us the College has permission only to offer BA and B.Com courses, and not Diplomas," he said.

Police said that the College had issued certificates illegally and the institution did not have permission to offer Diploma courses.

City Special Branch Inspector R.P. Ashok and K.G. Seetharam investigated the case.

In a communication, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao said that Colleges will be held responsible for the certificates they issue and if certificates and letters are issued illegally, action will be taken against them, he said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Skirl

Pronunciation: SKERL.

Meaning: Of a bagpipe; to emit the high shrill tone of the chanter; also to give forth music; to play (music) on the bagpipe.

Origin: Not every musical instrument is honoured with its very own verb. But then, not every musical instrument emits a sound that quite matches that of a bagpipe. Depending on your ear, you might think bagpipes "give forth music," or you might be more apt to say they "shriek." If you are of the latter opinion, your thinking aligns with the earliest sense of skirl — "to shriek." That early sense was used of screeching maids, winds, and the like. Scottish poet Robert Sempill first used it for bagpipes in the mid-1600s. The meaning of skirl has shifted over time, however, and these days you can use the verb without causing offense to bagpipers and bagpipe enthusiasts.

THE ODD WORD

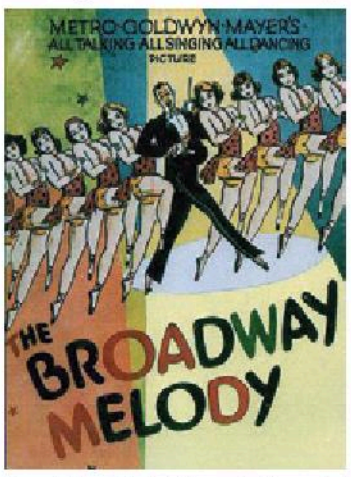
Mise-en-scène

Arrangement of actors and scenery on a stage for a theatrical production.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

All singing, all dancing

Meaning: Full of verve and vitality; with many features or attributes.



Origin: From the advertising posters used to promote the 1929 film Broadway Melody - the first musical film - which proclaimed it to be 'All talking All singing All dancing'. That was a literal description of the film, but was also intended to suggest a sense of vitality and excitement that the phrase is now used to convey.

In more recent years the term has been applied to high-tech equipment, computers, cars etc. in order to draw attention to their abundant features; for example, this from The Daily Telegraph, November 1995: "Satellites as small as a box of cornflakes can be launched at little cost by riding piggyback with larger satellites. A handful of these 'microsatellites' would be used instead of a single all-singing all-dancing 'platform' bristling with instruments."

QUOTE BOX

One good thing about music, when it hits you, you feel no pain.

—Bob Marley
